Folk Club Happenings

The air is crisp, the kids are back in school, the colors are beginning to appear, footballs fill the air (along with soccer balls), the World Series approaches, elections are near, woolly bears creep slowly to be mashed on the highways, mosquitoes have gone wherever the little beggars go when they leave us alone, the sun is rapidly disappearing in the evenings and no longer there when we get up, fall TV series arrive to challenge our intellect (for a second or two, anyway) most only to be doomed to cancellation before the holidays, - so, what's a folk singer doing these days?

To start with a folk singer might be chirping with the early birds along the VolksWalk trail in Reston starting at oh-dark-early on an October Saturday. Then again, maybe they could be found singing at a Bagels and Ballads session on Wednesdays in Springfield of Fairfax at the Chesapeake Bagel Factories that draws him out. Could it be that the Potter's house draws one to DC on a Friday or a harvest celebration at Sully Plantation lures the happy singer? Look carefully at your calendar in this issue because Folk Club members are abound throughout the capital region for the next six weeks from Baltimore to Centerville.

Every week at the Tortilla Factory Ellen Kaminsky places an array of "happenings" material around the table in the front of the room and taped to the window for your perusal. It is an excellent way to keep up on the events of interest to the folk music lover, performer or listener. If you haven't located this treasure chest of information, be sure to look for it the next time you visit the Folk Club.

As announced at the Open-Mike on Sep 29, the Board of Directors of the Folk Club has grown by three members with Richard Flinchbaugh, Liza Gelderloos and Jim Rosenkrans having become board members at the September 27 meeting. Welcome aboard, we all look forward to a long and prosperous association.

Your editor is once again awaiting a literary outpouring from the members. Translate - the newsletter needs articles. Are there none among you with a tale to tell, an experience worth relating, a secret???? Remember, anything which begins, "It was a dark and stormy night ..." is Pulitzer material around here (that's Irving Pulitzer, sanitation engineer - you remember him, don't you?)

The page gets shorter (more quickly with bigger type) and this month's ramblings are coming to a close. There is a lot of music to be found in the area - we hope all of you can find something to raise your spirits and settle your soul. Keep on singing. ... ed.

Steve Gillette & Cindy Mangsen

Featured Performers

on October 27, 1992

Returning to the Folk Club for the third time is singer-songwriter Steve Gillette, this time accompanied by his partner Cindy Mangsen. The duo brings to the stage a dazzling combination of original and traditional folk music. Steve has written many songs recorded by artists far and wide, starting with his first big hit "Darcy Farrow" recorded by Ian and Sylvia. Cindy adds ballads from Scotland and Appalachia while accompanying her lovely voice with guitar, banjo and English concertina. Steve, an accomplished guitarist with a rich, full, deep voice sings his original works with outstanding skill. Together they make an evening pass far too fast for an audience captured by their grace and style.

Both artist have numerous recordings to their credit and have extensive play list across North America at festivals, clubs and colleges, performing live and on the air.

Come to the Folk Club for this outstanding show - you will be glad you did.

Showcase Performances

October 6th, the featured performer will be Ray Kaminsky.

On the first Tuesday of every month we feature a Folk Club member in a showcase two-set (24 minute) performance. To become one of these "showcase" specials all you have to do is 1) be a member of the Folk Club, 2) fill out a lottery slip by the last Tuesday of the month, 3) win the drawing and 4) practice, practice practice!

*"I'm a good dog, Mama, I'll bring you your daily news.
I'm a good dog, Mama, I don't chew my master's shoes.
But there's one thing life has learnt me --
Even good dogs get the blues.'
Blow some sweet harp for me, Lucky. "*
