June 10 Showcase - Zen Gospel Trio

By Dan Grove

By now everyone knows that the Zen Gospel Trio - Sue Schier, Dianne LaFleur, and Kathleen Abbott - met at a low point in their lives, as teenage wards of the Illinois Correctional Facility for Wayward Girls. It's also common knowledge that the redemptive power of music, and particularly their ethereal brand of celestial harmony, lifted them from their lives of squalor and delivered them from recidivism. What some don't know, however, is that it was the Warden of the Facility himself who interceded on their behalf and obtained their pardons. Ever grateful, the trio recently had a reunion with the Warden (see the accompanying photo). He still recalls the many nights of bliss he experienced enjoying the girls' special talents.

The individual members of the group have been busy since their last showcase. Kathleen married again, to "the man of her dreams." Her first husband met with tragedy in a freak tractor accident, but the insurance company's suspicions were unfounded. Her new man, Bill, has been in heaven since his marriage, and says he's never been so happy, despite a couple of recent business setbacks. He's been uneventfully running a fleet of trucks for many years, but just had one catch fire and another lose its wheels at highway speed. Bill emerged unharmed in both cases, much to his and Kathleen's relief.

Sue's job with Enron has faded away, so she's pursuing her lifelong dream as a financial advisor, private banker, and portfolio manager. If you need help with your investments, she has some wonderful opportunities for you, and rare insider access to the hottest new deals and derivatives. To relax, she continues her meditative practice of cat juggling, despite a preliminary court injunction. You can still book her children's performance, "Some Kittens Can Fly," for your next party or wedding. Cat juggling at dog shows is her specialty.

Dianne is still exploring her religious devotion as a dancer in the Temple of Aphrodite. Rituals are held every full moon in the circle of trees behind her house. Her novices, young girls at risk of taking a wrong turn in life without firm guidance, look up to her as a spiritual and temporal font of hard-won wisdom. When Dianne's day job authoring technical manuals, web sites, screen plays, and bodice-rippers becomes sluggish, she relents to the constant pressure from novices, to be included in her other enterprise, her socialist escort service.

As you can see, the Trio has other interests, but their unwavering first commitment is to the spread of the Zen Gospel, the surrender to the musical Muses, and the edification of their audiences. Don't miss the Trio's special blend of uplifting voices and snappy instrumental accompaniment, and their unique oeuvre of anthems of renewal, intertwined with both winking and withering assessments of testosterone-based life forms. Be There Then!

Folk Club Proudly Presents

Anni Clark

Tickets $10 ($9 to Members)

June 24, 2003 7:30 PM
at the Tortilla Factory
648 Elden Street
Herndon, VA

Anni Clark's recently celebrated here 21st anniversary of self-employment in the music industry. With thousands of gigs, a million miles and five solo albums under her belt, her passion for communication through music continues to build a widespread and loyal audience for her folksy, bluesy, and sometimes witty recordings and performances.

October 2002 marked the official release of Big Water. The CD is a melodic, metaphorical journey... equal parts turbulent, rollicking, and contemplative, with an overall feel that is colorful and uplifting. Maine's Face Magazine writes "not only does Clark continue to write and perform songs about this thing called life, she does so with a quiet grace and simple inner beauty which, in turn, truly reflects Anni Clark at her very finest."

A two-time finalist in the well-known New Folk Songwriters' Competition at the Kerrville Folk Festival, Anni was invited to be one of the three judges in 2001. She was a featured artist in the 1997 Kerrville Wine and Music Festival. In 1999 and 2000, readers of Jam Music Magazine voted Anni "Folk Artist of the Year" and in 2002, "Female Artist of the Year". Also in 2002, Anni wrote and performed all the music for Virginia Plummer's short film "Checking Out" featured in the NY International Film Festival. Anni has shared stages from Maine to Texas with the likes of Shawn Colvin, Richie Havens, Patty Larkin, Leo Kottke, and Cheryl Wheeler. Recently in collaboration with songwriters Dan Merrill and Lynn Deeves, the trio was voted "Folk Artist of Year" at the 2001 Falcon Ridge Folk Festival. Don't miss this wonderful singer, writer and player in a very special performance at The Folk Club!

"PETE DURGAN"

Our own Ms. Pete Durgan has one of her songs on the web. Check this out -<http://mp3.washingtonpost.com/picks/> Pete (Maria) loaded a rough demo of a song to the Washington Post MP3 site so she could share it with an on-line group. Lo and behold, it was on the "Editor's Picks" page! What a happy surprise! The song is called "The Truth Is The Same" and she listed the Band as "My Sister Pete". You can download it if you want to.

SAVE OUR AUDIO HERITAGE. The American Folklife Center in the Library of Congress and the Center for Folklife and Cultural Heritage in the Smithsonian Institution are collaborating on a landmark project to preserve our audio heritage-- irreplaceable recordings of America's music and the voices of her people. A video about the Save Our Sounds project narrated by Mickey Hart is available online at the Smithsonian's Save Our Sounds website.

The Save America's Treasures program of the White House Millenium Council has awarded a grant of $750,000 toward this effort, recognizing these recordings as irreplaceable American treasures. We have eighteen months to raise $750,000 in matching funds. We hope that everyone, citizens, musicians, and cultural advocates everywhere, will support this crucial effort.
